Activist Urbanism for a Solidary City

Book presentations and discussion

How can we imagine and construct a solidary city, a city against the state, a soft city? How can an activist urbanism re-create the city as a space of multiplicity, of refuge, respite, reproduction, arrival, gathering?

These questions will be discussed on the base of two books recently published by transversal texts: Die sanfte Stadt ("Soft City″) by Kike España and Die Stadt als Stätte der Solidarität ("The City as a Site of Solidarity"), edited by Niki Kubaczek and Monika Mokre.
